Too Good to Waste!

Donate unused food to help those in need and help decrease global warming

Did you know?

Any food facility may donate food to a food bank or other nonprofit charitable organization for distribution to others free of charge.

A permitted food facility that donates food would not be subject to civil or criminal liability or penalty for violation of:
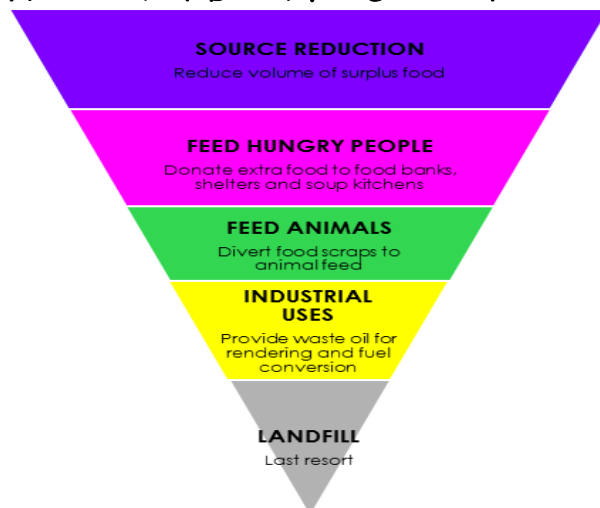

- Any laws, regulations, or ordinances regulating the labeling or packaging of the donated food
- Any violations occurring after the time of donation

If your food facility donates food, California State Law protects you!

Why should you donate?

In addition to disposal cost savings and potential tax deductions for your business, you can help reduce food insecurities and the amount of food waste going to the landfill (which increases global warming*).

Hierarchy of Best Management Practices

SOURCE REDUCTION
Reduce volume of surplus food

FEED HUNGRY PEOPLE
Donate extra food to food banks, shelters and soup kitchens

FEED ANIMALS
Divert food scraps to animal feed

INDUSTRIAL USES
Provide waste oil for rendering and fuel conversion

LANDFILL
Last resort

What foods can be donated?

Almost anything you serve or sell, including canned and packaged food with expired dates, produce and prepared food.

- Infant formula is the only exception and cannot be used after its use-by date.

*Food waste that decomposes in landfills releases methane, a greenhouse gas that is at least 28 times more potent than carbon dioxide.

Nonprofit charitable organizations that accept food donations; please contact directly to make arrangements for food donations.
